ACT 111.

This production brings to Wyong audiences several newcomers to the Drama Group. The performance crowns weeks of hard work for each of them in rehearsals which we have all enjoyed.

You members of the audience who have read Richard Gordon's book or seen the film adaptation will know something of the humour in the private lives of medical students. We hope you, and those others who believe only the Ben Casey seriousness of hospital life, all enjoy the show as much as we enjoy presenting it to you.
